Webinar Objective: Europe’s Clean Energy Package has set a binding minimum 70% target for electricity interconnector capacity for cross-zonal trading. The 70% target is legally binding since the start of 2020. This webinar brings together representative from Transmission System Operators (TSOs), the European Commission and other interested parties to discuss the main findings of ACER’s 70% report on monitoring how Member States are performing in reaching the binding 70% target for the first half of 2020.
